

Moving to new server

We have TeamCity 4.5 installed and running on Windows Server 2008. We have LDAP Auth and are using SQL Server for storage.

but, we decided we want to move TC to a linux box, so we set it up there, have LDAP working and plugged in our DB settings and poof, there is no projects.

So I started looking for a bit and it looks like the projects are in the data directory on the windows box in buildserver.data.

Is this correct?

If so I can I move the projects and history from the old server (Win) to the new server (Nix)?

You'll need to move content of the .BuildServer directory. If new server already points to the old database this should work.
